

About the Kalamazoo Bach Festival

Founded at Kalamazoo College in 1947 as a week-long celebration of the music of J.S. Bach, the Kalamazoo Bach Festival has long played a vital role in the cultural life of southwest Michigan.

Today we retain our focus on the great choral works of Bach and his contemporaries as we present a full season of concerts and educational events. We offer diverse programming to a faithful and growing audience. The Kalamazoo Bach Festival board of directors, music director, chorus members and staff are dedicated to finding ways to enrich the quality of life in our community. We need your patronage, support and feedback to succeed.

Please consider a generous contribution to keep the Kalamazoo Bach Festival alive!
