Language Courses

Language courses

LANG 121 Spk & Lstn: 5 Min in America
This class is designed for multilingual students to practice public speaking in English. We will organize our time into five sections represented by five important moments in American pop culture. The goal of this class is to practice casual and informal English speaking and listening skills in small groups while collaborating on more formal speaking projects. Styles of projects will depend on students' interests and abilities with a focus on consensus-building and the development of new skills in an open-minded and welcoming environment. Some in-person activities will be offered, but the class will be fully accessible online.

LANG 131 Lost in Translation: Academic Writing A Content-Based Academic Writing Course ESOL
LANG 131 is an ESL class for multilingual students. This course focuses on academic writing, which includes practice in brainstorming, organizing, and developing ideas through the formal writing process. Students will write three papers, which will be informed by brief readings, small group sessions, and class discussion. A strong emphasis will be placed on growing a sense of confidence in writing through lessons, guidance, and feedback. The content for this course, “Lost in Translation,” refers to brief readings and writing prompts that express bicultural and multilingual experiences, which students will be encouraged to explore.

LANG 210 Foreign Language Teaching Methods and Practicum I
This course will broaden your understanding of second language learning and currently espoused foreign language teaching methodologies while helping you to develop your own skills as a foreign language instructor. The main topics covered will be teaching speaking, listening, and reading skills, lesson planning, and teaching language in context. *This course is only open to foreign language teaching assistants.

LANG 211 Foreign Language Teaching Methods and Practicum II
This course will broaden your understanding of second language learning and currently espoused foreign language teaching methodologies while helping you to develop your own skills as a foreign language instructor. The main topics covered will be motivating students, teaching for cultural understanding, teaching vocabulary, and error correction. *This course is only open to foreign language teaching assistants.

Prerequisite: Visiting International Students or permission

LANG 593 Senior Individualized Project

The Academic Catalog contains the most accurate information available at the time of publication. Statements contained therein are not contractual obligations, and verbal or other representations that are inconsistent with or not contained within the catalogues' offerings or policies are not binding. Kalamazoo College reserves the right to change, without specific notice, offerings, policies, procedures, qualifications, fees, and other conditions.

This content was last updated on January 29 2021.